Seamen Given Palatial Home

Estate Will Be Used as Convalescent Center for Tars Wounded on Duty.

A stately, 42-room mansion which has provided hospitable and luxurious shelter for many a celebrity since it was built in 1870, has been turned over to United Seamen's Service for the duration by the heirs of the famous Mills estate.

Located at Millbrae, 18 miles southwest of San Francisco, the mansion soon will be put in operation as the West coast's first USS rest home for merchant seamen who have suffered wounds, illness or shock in war zone voyages. Similar homes, utilizing estates such as that of the Kermit Roosevelts at Oyster Bay, Long Island, and of Mrs. C. Suydam Cutting in New Jersey, already have been established on the Atlantic coast.

Heir Approves Lease.

In personally approving the gift lease of the property, Ogden Mills Reid, one of the four heirs, said he was delighted to participate in such a contribution to the welfare of the nation's merchant seamen.

"We Americans have few obligations more pressing than that of caring for the men who, month in and month out, are running gantlets of torpedoes and bombs to deliver war goods to our fighting forces and those of our Allies," Reid declared.

Other heirs represented in the benefaction are Lady Beatrice Granard, wife of the Earl of Granard, County Longford, Ireland; Mrs. Gladys Mills Phipps, wife of H. Carnegie Phipps, and Lady Jean Templeton Ward, wife of Sir John Robert Ward of Chilton, Hungerford, England.

Patterned after a French chateau, the huge home was constructed for Darius Ogden Mills after he became immensely rich as a merchant and banker during the gold rush days. He had arrived in Stockton from Buffalo, N. Y., in 1849, bringing with him a small capital which he was reputed to have increased to $40,000 by the end of his first year's ventures in trading. He founded the Bank of D. O. Mills & Company in Sacramento in 1850.

House Kept Up.

The house that D. O. Mills built at Millbrae continued to serve the Mills and the Reids as a winter home until a couple of years ago. Even until now, it has been kept in constant readiness to receive members of the two families. A staff of several persons has been continuously employed to maintain the house and its extensive grounds.

Once the height of fashion, craftsmanship and cost, the furnishings of the mansion are still very impressive. Because of the heirs' sentimental regard for some of the furniture and decorative pieces, part of the household goods will be placed in storage before the place is opened as a USS rest home. Furniture which formerly graced passenger ships since converted to troop transports will be substituted.

Around the mansion are beautiful lawns and woods and the eucalyptus trees which are supposed to have been the first brought to the United States. Of more present day interest is a rubber tree which is credited with being one of the largest in America. The property also has three lakes where convalescent seamen may enjoy boating and swimming.

Use Ships' Furnishings.

Simultaneous with the announcement of the Mills' gift, was another revealing fancy furnishings removed from America's passenger liners when the ships were converted to troop transports soon will provide comfort and elegance for wanting merchant seamen reaching West coast ports.

A requisition for everything from grand pianos to sheets was submitted by United Seamen's Service to the War Shipping administration, in whose custody the furnishings were placed.

The requisition included a long list of tables, dressers, chairs, drapes, sofas, mattresses, chests of drawers, coffee tables, combination radios, coffee urns, rugs, pictures, silverware, beds, etc., having a total valuation of more than $50,000.

Most of the furnishings will come from the lot that formerly was aboard the luxury liner President Coolidge. The Coolidge selection of upholstered chairs, night tables, studio couches, occasional tables, settees and the like is valued at $35,000.

Other ships represented in the USS requisition were the Day Star, President Tyler, La Perla, President Polk, President Grant, Island Mail, President Monroe, President Taylor, Mormacsun, Mormactar and the Mormacsea.

How to Keep Meat

Now that meat is so scarce, it is more important than ever that every precious ounce is saved. Keep your refrigerator in good shape so it can keep your meat for you.

There are many things to learn about meats—ask your Electric Dealer or our Home Economists—but here are a few meat hints.

FREEZING: Meats can be frozen in the ice cube tray—will keep for a week or longer.

WASHING: Never wash or wipe meat until just before cooking. Ground meat should be cooked within 24 hours after grinding.

STORING: Remove market paper, wrap loosely in waxed paper but leave freedom for air circulation, store in meat container or freezer. Do not cut or chop meat until just before using—it will spoil quicker if you do.

REFRIGERATION: Clean, defrost, your refrigerator regularly. Set temperature between 40° to 50°. Keep it in good repair. New ones no longer available.

People's Responsibility

Eight billion dollars of the 13 billion dollars in this Second War Loan Drive must come from non-banking sources, so the responsibility for the bulk of this 13-billion-dollar drive rests with the American public.

Indications are that Americans generally need only to be reminded of this responsibility and how much they should lend their government in order to reach this goal. Americans are backing up their fighting men on the battle fronts. They are supporting the Second War Loan. "They give their lives . . . You lend your money."

"They Give Their Lives—You Lend Your Money" U. S. Treasury Department

War Takes 96¢ Of Each Dollar

Out of every $18.75 that is invested in a War Bond, $18 goes into guns, planes, tanks, ships and other military equipment. The 75 cents goes for ordinary governmental expenditures. Out of every dollar 96 cents goes toward the war effort and 4 cents goes for Government business as usual."

The same ratio applies to all other securities the Government has offered investors in the Second War Loan campaign for 13 billion dollars.

CEILINGS ON FRESH VEGETABLES

Retail ceilings for cabbage, carrots, lettuce, peas, snap beans, spinach and tomatoes will be established beginning today, April 22nd, through the use of uniform markups over the retailer's cost, according to OPA. For each vegetable except cabbage, the retailer will determine his ceilings by multiplying his net cost by 1.30. On cabbage, where spoilage is greater, the mark-up is 1.50 for independent retailers with a annual volume of $250,000 or less, 1.54 for chain retailers with an annual volume under $250,000, and 1.55 for any retailer with an annual volume over $250,000. Retailers will determine their ceilings each Thursday by applying given mark-ups to the net cost of the vegetable based on the largest single purchase of the preceding week.

Any Virginia farmer who sells not more than $75 worth of foods per month to country shippers or to consumers is exempt from price control for the seven fresh vegetables. If a farmer is a country shipper, he is subject to the price regulations.

Many German transport planes shot down off Tunisia.

The B'g April War Bond Drive in Appomattox County has entered the home stretch with a general quickening of sales. It will probably be mid-May before complete returns can be compiled, but preliminary surveys this week indicated that the public is buying bonds at a rate well ahead of any previous month.

The Government is asking the nation to invest 13 billion dollars in War Bonds during April. This amount will run the government's war effort two months. In addition to the angle of being a sound investment, the purchase of Bonds is a potent step in heading off inflation and economic disruption after the war.

Both banks at Appomattox are investing heavily in Bonds, and it is obvious that this county's total quota will be subscribed. But, the government is anxious to have general public invest in bonds and keep surplus cash out of the competition for commodities.

Visit your postmaster or bank today and invest in War Bonds. If you have partially filled War Saving Stamp Books complete them this month and turn them into War Bonds. If you are not yet using the Pay-Roll plan for regular purchases, see your employer about it today. If he does not have the information, see a banker, or Judge J. W. Flood, county chairman. And, if at all convenient, buy your bonds in this county so that the total sum Appomattox people are investing can be known.

SCHOOL CHILDREN BUY THREE JEEPS

The Jeep Campaign, which lasted for thirty days, is over at the Appomattox high school, and as a result the Axis has something more to worry about. The students at A. H. S. set out to buy one Jeep, but the Bonds and Stamps sold so rapidly that the goal was raised to two Jeeps. The cost of a Jeep is $900, and since the grades and the high school raised in bonds and stamps $3,471.60, three Jeeps are in order, with enough left over for some guns and maybe a bomb or two!

The Jeep drive is over at A. H. S. but bonds and stamps are still on sale at the school.
